Capital flows into green growth projects have still seen positive signals despite adverse impacts from the Covid-19 pandemic on foreign direct investment (FDI) in Vietnam. The green growth trend of international investment organizations is opening up many opportunities for Vietnamese enterprises to call for capital.

Renovation of old apartment buildings must keep social cohesion: experts

Hanoitimes

Hanoi, the capital city of Vietnam, is reaching out for a drastic change with the image of new urban areas and modern apartment buildings. In such a special transitional period, we see the grey and patchy color of the old apartment blocks somewhere that seem to have never faded with time. There still preserve special imprints – a legacy of difficulties but a memorable period of many Hanoians.
